

NEW EDITION: March 2013

Electromagnetic Sensitivity and Electromagnetic Hypersensitivity A Summary by Michael Bevington

"Building on the favourable response to the first edition, I have now doubled the size to include scientific updates, quantum biology, earthing, and sensitivity in plants and animals, along with disability issues. The colour tables show the vast difference between heating and biological limits. Current diagnostic and treatment protocols, a glossary, time-line and shielding examples add practical resources." Michael Bevington MA (Oxon.), MEd. Chair of Trustees of ES-UK

The New Edition with an Introduction by NHS Doctor, Andrew Tresidder, gives readers an encyclopaedic insight into EHS/ES. There are many new charts and important summaries, such as:

- Symptoms of EHS
- Sources of EMR
- International Guidelines and Sensitivity Thresholds
- Medical Evidence
- Treatment and Therapies
- Shielding Suggestions
- Earthing and Body Voltage
- Key Dates; Scientific Discoveries and Regulation.
- 1,800 references to scientific papers relating to this illness and incorporates all developments up until mid 201
